Paro Taktsang is a prominent Himalayan Buddhist sacred site and the temple complex is in the Cliffside of the upper Paro valley in Bhutan. A temple complex was first built in 1692, around the Taktsang SengeSamdup cave where Guru Padmasambhava is said to have meditated for three years, three months, three weeks, three days, and three hours in the 8th century. Guru Padmasambhava is credited with introducing Buddhism to Bhutan and is the tutelary deity of the country. Today, Paro Taktsang is the best known of the thirteen Taktsang or "Tiger Lair" caves in which he meditated.

FAQs.

Q. In what way is this 6-day Bhutan tour special?

Ans. This tour offers the perfect blend of cultural exploration, natural beauty, and spiritual experiences. The travelers get to explore Bhutan's most popular sites, from the famous Monastery of the Tiger's Nest at Paro to the Punakha Dzong and the lively capital city of Thimphu, while enjoying Bhutan's unique hospitality and serene environment.

Q. What are the activities I can expect on the tour?

Ans. Visits to ancient monasteries, fortress-like dzongs, and Bhutanese markets are all included. There are also treks along scenic paths, local festivals (subject to season), and meditation at sacred Buddhist sites. For the adventure-seekers, river rafting at Punakha and trekking at the Paro Valley are exhilarating options.

Q. When is the best season to take this tour?

Ans. March to May and September to November are the best times to visit Bhutan, as the weather is pleasant and you can witness vibrant festivals like Paro Tsechu. There is also the beauty of winter, when the scenery is white from the snow, and summer offers lush greenery and smaller crowds.

Q. What do I bring along on a 6-day Bhutan trip?

Ans. Wear warm and cozy shoes to stroll around monasteries and treks, layered clothing to deal with temperature fluctuations, and a rain jacket when you are visiting during summer, and a camera to capture pictures of Bhutan's stunning landscapes. Dress modestly when you are visiting religious sites.
